Mission Statement:

Brandeis National Committee is dedicated to providing philanthropic support to Brandeis University, a distinguished liberal arts and research university founded by the American Jewish community. Its membership is connected to the university through fundraising and through activities that reflect the values on which the university was founded: academic excellence, social justice, nonsectarianism, and service to the community.

A Message from Your CO-Presidents

Dear Members,

It's hard to believe than almost half of our 2013-2014 terms are over! Our first two Chapter events were enjoyed by a record number of attendees and, best of all, were financially successful, putting us well on our way to achieving our annual financial goals.

We expect our membership to reach 470+ this year. We continue to grow because of the reputation we have earned. The study groups, fun events and learning opportunities we offer our members enrich all our lives and would not be possible without our core cadre of hard-working member volunteers who serve in both Board and non-Board positions.

In the next few weeks, the Nominating Committee will begin the process of selecting nominees to fill vacancies for various elected Officer and Director positions on our Board. If you or anyone you know might be interested in giving back to our organization, this is the perfect opportunity. Just complete the Recommendation Form we've provided in this newsletter and we'll do the rest. If you are unable to serve on the Board, keep in mind that there are other volunteer opportunities available. We won't ask more of you than you are willing and able to give.

In closing, we must thank those who have joined with us in the last few months. Whether it's preparing a flyer or name tags for an event, helping at the Fall Luncheon or with a mailing, we couldn't have done it without you.

Here's to the rest of what promises to be a great Brandeis year! Stay tuned.

Brandeis-Israel Research Initiative starts strong Neuroscientists find ways to collaborate across the ocean (By Leah Burrows, Sept. 9, 2013)

Despite all the advances in communication technology, nothing beats face-to-face conversations----just ask Brandeis University neuroscientists who recently spent two days brainstorming with their counterparts from Israel.

Suzanne Paradis, one of several Brandeis' faculty members, is developing joint projects with colleagues in Israel as part of the Henry J. Leir Brandeis-Israel Research Initiative which will underwrite collaborations between Israeli and Brandeis neuroscientists and fund post-doctoral appointments for up-and-coming Israeli scientists at Brandeis.

The $750,000 grant aims to strengthen connections between Brandeis and Israeli scientists and support research projects on the human brain. Four Israeli scientists visited campus last month to meet with faculty and discuss research opportunities.

Collaborations have already resulted in the development of a proposal for joint research to study a certain class of molecules that regulate synapse formation.

"The neuroscience community is a truly international one," Arthur Wingfield, chair of the neuroscience program at Brandeis, said. "So these collaborations are very natural and very easy."

A true humanist at heart, Charles Sherman believes in the values of the Torah. He will talk about how spirituality has guided his 30+ year career in the arts, not only as the subject for his creativity, but also as the guiding inspiration for positivity in his life. "Art is my Meditation, and Meditation is my Art."

He is sometimes called the "bad boy of Judaism," because of his provocative Bible Series of bronze sculptures that includes the depiction of many controversial themes, such as the first recorded hermaphrodite, "Adam/Eve."

MEMBERSHIP UPDATES

Membership Happening: New Member Coffee

New and prospective member coffees are held at least twice a year. The most recent coffee was held on October 31, 2013 at the lovely home of Elaine Blonder. There were 23 guests, including three husbands, reflecting the increasing number of male members. As we went around the room, everyone had the opportunity to tell something about themselves and found much in common. Then we enjoyed presentations by our enthusiastic board members. We learned about the history of Brandeis, the tribute cards, and the social justice/community committee. Our fantastic study groups have grown over the past year, and there are now over 70 groups for our members to join.

Our chapter could win a $500.00 gift certificate if we raise the greatest percentage over its fiscal year 2014 membership goal. We encourage you to bring a friend, neighbor, or family member to your next Brandeis event.

Remember, Brandeis enriches our lives by keeping our minds active through study groups, fun events, and lifelong friendships.

We want to welcome the following new members into our chapter, and if you know someone who is not enjoying life as much as we are, give me that person's name.

MEMBERSHIP LUNCHEON AND BOUTIQUE

Our Fall Luncheon and Boutique was held on October 10, 2013 at North Ranch Country Club. 200 people came to listen to Patt Morrison, our guest speaker, who entertained us with her stories. Marsha Goldin provided us with beautiful centerpieces that everyone wanted to take home. Nothing Bundt Cakes donated Bundtlets that looked so pretty on the tables. Our Boutique had something for everyone with beautiful jewelry, clothing and candy. This luncheon was a huge success. Mark your calendars: April 2, 2014, our Books N Brunch. It will be held at the Sheraton, Agoura Hills. We are looking forward to a terrific line up of speakers.

Study Groups are off to a great start!

The responses to Study Group sign-ups at our fall luncheon were great. New groups in our existing categories will be starting as soon as we have enough people to start a group. We have already begun to schedule organizational meetings. Thanks to the membership for responding to our flyer about potential new groups. You gave us wonderful feedback about groups that the Conejo Valley chapter would like to include in our roster of groups. We plan to implement your choices as soon as we have enough manpower to move ahead. You can help us make this happen by joining our Study Group Team.

CIO REPORT:

New undergrad business program among most popular
Three years ago, it was hard to imagine business becoming one of the most popular subjects at Brandeis. Even though undergraduate business program chair Ed Bayone always had high hopes for the new major, the academic community's enthusiastic embrace of the interdisciplinary program surprised him a little.

The program involves more than 400 undergrads, or nearly one out of nine Brandeis students.

Launched in 2010, the business major has become the fourth most popular major at Brandeis, with nearly 200 students, behind biology, economics and psychology.

Many classes that qualify for the major might not seem particularly business-centric, like "Managing Medicine" and "Globalization and the Media." Several departments have developed courses with the major in mind, including Near Eastern and Judaic studies ("Jewish Business Ethics") and theater arts ("The Business of Show Business").

The focus of the Brandeis program, says Bayone, is to use the discipline to complement a student's primary passion. Students who develop this understanding of how business works are able to bring a broader skill set to their careers after college. It opens doors for them."
